

Table of Contents

Introduction	5
Acknowledgments	9
The Art of Modern Juggling (1907) by Anglo (Thomas Horton) (with James F. Middelton, ed.)	11
• Author biographical sketch, context, commentary, & notes . .	11
• Original page images and illustrations	25
Juggling Secrets (1911) by Will Goldston (ed.) et al.	129
• Author biographical sketch, context, commentary, & notes .	129
• Original page images and illustrations	133
Juggling (1921) by Rupert Ingalese (Paul Wingrave)	229
• Author biographical sketch, context, commentary, & notes .	229
• Original page images, photos, and illustrations	241
Bibliography	316
The Companion Volume: The Juggler's Anthology of Venerable Veracities	317
For the Non-Juggler: Learn the Basic 3-Ball Cascade Pattern . .	318
About the Compiler/Annotator	320
About The Throwback Series	320

Typography note: The compiler's commentary and annotations throughout The Juggler's Trilogy of Timeless Techniques are typeset in "Swiss 721" from the Bitstream Corp., a 1982 variant of Helvetica, the functional, versatile, and ubiquitous typeface designed by Max Meidinger (1910-1980) in 1957. This modern sans serif typeface was chosen so that the commentary is easily distinguishable from the body text of the three early-20th-century books reproduced in this volume.

